Indian Pharma

estimated to shoot up nearly 50% in the next two years to touch Rs 220 crore. Bengaluru-based market research firm Indegenie’s study shows.Mobile apps and social media have gained a bigger role in this growth, the study that is part of a larger report on global digital marketing trends found. This will help India catch up with tech-savvy emerging markets peers like China, where nearly half the companies are expected to allocate more than a fifth of their marketing budget to digital marketing by 2018. Pharmacompanies in India have already begun switching to new technology, as new launches show.

The pharmaceutical segment is seen as an integral part of the Indian healthcare market, which is estimated to be worth Rs. 10,000 crore and growing at a CAGR of 22.9 per cent. Globally, India is the third largest in terms of volume and 13th in terms of value. By 2020 genericmedicines will occupy 70 per cent of the market. In the mid-term, nearly 25,000 companies and only 330 are organised. Total employable candidates with BPharm degree is expected to touch 30 per cent in 2016 as against those 40.62 per cent in 2015. Also as per the industry-wide hiring targets for women in Pharma and Healthcare sector, the total target is around 38.67 per cent women as per the Skill India Report and the total employability of women is only about 28.74 per cent which is way below the ideal of gender diversity to be maintained in the pharmaceutical industry.

Indian pharmaceutical sector is estimated to account for 3.1 - 3.6 per cent of the global pharmaceutical industry in value terms and 10 per cent in volume terms. India’s pharmaceutical exports stood at US$ 16.8 billion in 2016-17 and are expected to grow by 30 per cent to touch US$ 25 billion by 2020, according to the Pharmaceuticals Export Promotion Council of India (Pharmexcil). Pharmaceutical items reached Rs. 696.84 billion (US$ 10.76 billion) during April 2017. Indian companies received 304 Abbreviated New Drug Application (ANDA) approvals from the US Food and Drug Administration (USFDA) in 2017, a 30 per cent jump over the year 2016, and are expected to reach US$ 20 billion by 2020, according to the Pharmaceuticals Export Promotion Council of India (Pharmexcil).

Chemical and pharmaceutical sector is expected to provide more than 10 million jobs in the next 5 years.

Major Government Initiatives in Pharma and Healthcare Sector in India

Some of the major initiatives taken by the government of India to promote the chemical and pharmaceutical sector in India are as follows:

- The Union Cabinet has given its nod for the amendment of the existing Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) policy in the pharmaceutical sector in order to allow FDI up to 100 per cent under the automatic route for manufacturing of medical devices subject to certain conditions. The drugs and pharmaceuticals sector attracted cumulative FDI inflows worth US$ 15.59 billion between April 2000 and December 2017, according to data released by the Department of Industrial Policy and Promotion (DIPP).

- In March 2018, the Drug Controller General of India (DCGI) announced its plans to start a new window facility to provide consents, approvals and other information. The move is aimed at giving a push to the Make in India initiative.

- The Government of India unveiled ‘Pharma Vision 2020’ aimed at making India a global leader in end-to-end drug manufacture. Approval time for new products has been reduced to boost investments.

- Introduction of mechanisms such as the Drug Price Control Order and the National Pharmaceutical Pricing Authority to deal with the issue of affordability and availability of drugs.

- The launch of the flagship national insurance scheme for 100 million families in 2018. The scheme benefits up to Rs 5 lakh a year to create the world’s largest public health insurance scheme augers well for secondary and tertiary care in India.

- Government of India launched new National Health Policy (NHP) in 2017 for the last health policy was approved. The plan aims to strengthen India’s healthcare system. The policy proposes to increase the public health expenditure by 2.5 percent of the GDP from the current 2 percent GDP spending. The plan also aims to reduce the maternal mortality rate, infant and child death rate due to many non-communicable and infectious diseases.

- Elimination by 2018, kala-azar and lymphatic filariasis by 2017 is targeted in the policy. The policy aims to achieve the global target for HIV/AIDS by 2020 the goals include 90% of all people living with HIV to know their status, 90% of all people living with HIV received sustained antiretroviral therapy, and the viral in 90% of those receiving antiretroviral therapy is suppressed.

- Healthcare services like ePharmacy, eConsultations and teleconsultations and telepharmacy. Government has set up 304 Abbreviated New Drug Application schemes to address health holistically, will also generate lakhs of jobs in the pharmaceutical sector.

Finally, Pharmaceutical and healthcare sector is likely to witness an over 20 percent growth in hiring this year and also expected to generate around 20,000 jobs according to the India Skills Report 2016. As per estimates the pharma industry currently employs about 5.5-5.7 lakh people. This increase can be attributed to the initiatives by the government. A good investment in the pharma, life science and healthcare sector is showing positive signs. Going forward, better growth in domestic sales would also depend on the ability of companies to align their policies with global trends and launch chronic therapies for diseases such as cardiovascular, anti-diabetes, anti-inflammatory and other indigenous medicines. The thrust on rural health programmes, lifesaving drugs and preventive vaccines also augurs well for the pharmaceutical industry. According to a report, in spite of prevailing challenges in the Indian pharma sector, 58,000 additional job opportunities are likely to be created as the industry is expected to grow up to 45 per cent by 2025.

India is a rapidly developing economy with a very small super-rich class, fast expanding middle class and 22 per cent of the world’s population. India has to talk of health in terms of infant mortality rates (IMR), maternal mortality ratios (MMR) and life expectancy at birth. The healthcare sector employs only 308 million people, with only 38.67 per cent women as per the Skill India Report. The total employability of women is only about 28.74 per cent which is way below the ideal of gender diversity to be maintained in the pharmaceutical industry.

Moreover, the pharma industry in India is highly fragmented. India enjoys an important position in the global pharmaceuticals sector. The country also has a large number of skilled engineers and workers who have the potential to steer the industry ahead to an even higher level. Pressure from a large number of the antiretroviral drugs used globally to combat AIDS (Acquired Immuno Deficiency Syndrome) are supplied by Indian pharmaceutical companies.

Major Government Initiatives in Pharma and Healthcare Sector in India

The Department of Indian System of Homoeopathy (ISM) which was created in March 1995 and renamed as Department of Ayurveda, Yoga and Naturopathy, Unani, Siddha and Homoeopathy (AYUSH) in November 2003, with focused attention for development and research in Ayurveda, Yoga and Naturopathy, Unani, Siddha and Homoeopathy. Finally, the Prime Minister launched rotavirus vaccine, Rotavac of Bharat Biotech-first indigenously developed and produced rotavirus vaccine. Every year, diarhoea causes 80,000 children under five years of age. The then Prime Minister, Dr. Manmohan Singh, said the vaccine will have significant impact in healthcare and many other major reforms can be expected from this government that will propel the healthcare and pharmaceutical sector of India to develop a healthier India. Dr. Bhim Rao Ambedkar : The Great Unifier

14 April : Ambedkar Jayanti

"Democracy is not merely a form of Government. It is primarily a mode of associated living, of conjoint communicative experience. It is essentially an attitude of respect and reverence towards our fellow men"

-Dr B.R. Ambedkar

Dr. B.R. Ambedkar

"So long as you do not achieve social liberty, whatever freedom is provided by the law is of no avail to you."

-Dr B.R. Ambedkar

Historic roots of democracy in India go back to pre-Buddhist India. A study of the Buddhist Bhiksush Sanghas demonstrates that democracy and dignity were nothing but Parliaments and knew all the rules of Parliamentary procedure known to modern times. Although these rules were based upon rules that were applied by the Buddha to the meetings of the Sanghas, he must have borrowed them from the rules of the Assembly of the Gods functioning in the country in his time.

Dr. Ambedkar emphasized that Hindu need not ‘borrow’ from foreign sources to build a society on the principles of equality, fraternity and liberty. They ‘could draw for such principles on the Upanishads.’

During the freedom struggle he said that there would be no meaning of freedom if the depressed classes continued to be exploited.

Ambedkar envisioned a transformative future which India now needs if it truly wants to take a quantum jump to a modern, progressive and developed society.

Recognition to Resources

In India, it is time that resources and values most significant and available to all equally. In recent decades more and more youths have emerged as graduates who cannot fit into the limited government jobs. At this juncture, entrepreneurship emerges as an option where educated and trained youth, end up as job providers and not job seekers. The Dalit Indian Chamber of Commerce and Industry (DICCI) is an initiative in this direction.

The government led by Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi is making all efforts to create an ecosystem for entrepreneurship. Stand up India, Venture capital fund for Scheduled Castes and MUSCRA are a few of the schemes that have benefited the weaker sections of the society in recent years.

Dr. BR Ambedkar becomes all the more relevant in these times.

Caste-less Society

Ambedkar dreamt of a caste-less society. It requires us to think, with all honesty, about the pending caste questions and come up with a time-bound framework for a qualitative transformation of our society as a whole. The quality of our growth depends on social cohesiveness.

Integrating India

Ambedkar’s thoughts were a great unifier. He always thought about the unity and integrity of this country. First as a freedom fighter and later as a constitution framer he tried to unite the country in every possible way. He was of the view that caste is the greatest hurdle in the unity and prosperity of this civilization.

During the freedom struggle he worked for the downtrodden and depressed classes of the society. He talked about freedom of India from social inequality and untouchability. Dr. Ambedkar became the voice of those who were a part of the deprived sections known as Scheduled Castes. Without their emancipation, Indian freedom struggle could not be deemed to be complete. The Indian national struggle in the first half of the century was not merely a struggle to wrest political power from foreign rule but also a struggle to lay the foundation of a modern India by purging the society of outmoded social institutions, beliefs and attitudes. Ambedkar’s struggle constituted a part of the internal struggle, one of the divergent and sometimes conflicting currents all of which helped to secure ‘freedom’ from external and internal oppression and enslavement. The process of internal consolidation of the nation strengthened and broadened the social base of Indian nationalism.

Socio-political Unity

Ambedkar had immense faith in the bright future and evolution of this country. He took up the caste question by linking the social question of caste with the political question of democracy and nationalism. Such an effort to prioritise society over politics and then linking them together was unprecedented in India. According to Ambedkar, ‘Without social union, political unity is difficult to be achieved. If achieved, it would be as precarious as a summer sapling, liable to be uprooted by the gust of a hostile wind. With mere political unity, India may be a State. But to be a State is not to be a nation and a State, which is not a nation, has small prospects of survival in the struggle for existence.’

Ambedkar’s Faith in ‘Bharat’

Ambedkar had faith in ancient Indian institutions and texts except caste. He was convinced with the spiritual aspect of Indian texts and codes but not with the legal aspects which had developed in last 1200 years. He talked about annihilation of Caste and not Dharma. He understood the importance of Dharma in India when the time of conversion came as he had declared earlier, he chose Buddhism.

Dr. Ambedkar pointed out that
