Dr Vivek Kumar Mishra

"I believe the secret to Israel and India's successes are the same thing - a combination of traditional values and innovation. What also binds us together is the most important of all, that we have a special relationship with a commitment to democracy." - Netanyahu

Benjamin Netanyahu, who is the second Israeli Prime Minister after Ariel Sharon to visit India, arrived in New Delhi on 14th January, 2018 for a six-day state visit with the intention of strengthening bilateral relations. The importance of the visit can be measured from the fact that Prime Minister Narendra Modi broke the protocol and received him at the Delhi airport. He welcomed PM Netanyahu with a warm hug.

Joint Press Conference on 15th January 2018

This visit of Israeli Prime Minister marks 25 years of the establishment of diplomatic relations between the two countries and takes place about six months after Prime Minister Narendra Modi's trip to Israel, the first by any Indian Prime Minister to the Jewish state. It is to be noted in the context of the Joint Statement that India is the biggest defense export destination, and Israel being India's third-biggest source of arms, this relationship seems more poised than ever for scaling new heights. The importance of the conference clearly stated by Israeli Prime Minister about Indian counterparts that "you are a revolutionary leader in the best sense of the word 'revolution.'" Netanyahu added that "something different is happening now because of your leadership and because of our partnership. You are catapulting this magnificent state into the future and you have revolutionized the relationship between Israel and India."

Netanyahu statement clearly marks that today both countries are entering a new era of relations. Prime Minister Modi also commented Netanyahu's visit by saying that "it is a long-anticipated moment in the journey of friendship between India and Israel." He added that in Netanyahu, he has "a counterpart who is equally committed to taking the India-Israel relationship to soaring new heights."

MoUs/Agreements signed during the visit of Prime Minister of Israel to India

India and Israel signed nine agreements following the talks, including two memorandums of understanding (MoUs) on cooperation in the areas of oil and gas and cyber security, and two letters of intent between Indian Oil and two Israeli entities on metal-air batteries and solar thermal technologies.

Highlights of the Joint Statement

The two leaders issued a joint statement that reconfirmed the "strategic relationship" between the both countries. The joint statement states that the two Prime Ministers agreed that renewed efforts were required to realize the full potential for bilateral trade and investment and noted that the next round of bilateral discussions will be held next month in Israel. The Prime Ministers urged the private sector to actively explore investment opportunities in both countries, including through India's flagship programmes such as "Make in India", "Start-Up India" and "Digital India."

The following sectors got prominence in the Joint Statement:

Defence Sector:

The joint statement highlights that the readiness of Israeli companies to enter into joint ventures with Indian companies in the defense sector under the "Make in India" initiative. They consider it important to set the direction for developing more business models and partnerships for joint ventures and joint manufacturing including transfer of technology as well as research and development in defense security fields. They call on the Defense Ministries to hold discussions in 2018 with active involvement of the public and private sectors, in order to create the basis for viable, sustainable and long term cooperation in the defense industry.

Terrorism:

Prime Minister Modi and Netanyahu reiterated that there can be no justification for acts of terror on any grounds whatsoever and advocated strong measures against terrorist organisations, those who sponsor, encourage or finance terrorism.

TIME MANAGEMENT

The ability to monitor and supervise "Self"plays an important role in managing life, the lack of which caused due to the inability to manage time efficiently.

What is time management?

Time Management is the act of processing conscious control over the amount of time spent on specific activities to increase productivity and efficiency.

Causes of poor time management

Lack of self discipline:

How much work we already have on our plate needs to be identified based on which saying a NO should be acceptable to our mind. Always saying a "Yes" is a source of stress and leads us away from our priorities into less important tasks.

Indecisiveness:

Lack of decision making skills creates chaos in daily activities. Obsession with perfection:

In order to attain perfection we often find ourselves hard pressed for time. Isn't that relatable? And then we lose time and energy on small irrelevant details.

Not delegating right kind of work to right kind of person results in poor time utilisation.

Lack of patience:

Sometimes multitasking is required but attempting too many different things simultaneously makes us lose patience and as a result none of the tasks gets done efficiently and effectively.

Oscillating between alternatives and options:

Having too many options and alternatives causes confusion so choosing the best option within an acceptable time frame is the key here.

Physiological:

The prefrontal cortex plays an important role in time management.
tension or provide sanctuary to terrorist and terror groups. They have recognized terrorism as a grave threat to the peace and security of the both states. They also noted with satisfaction that the new mechanisms of the Joint Working Groups on Homeland and Public Security will be held in February 2018. They reiterated the importance of building comprehensive cooperation in counter-terrorism, including cyber-space, and welcomed the signing of the Memorandum of Understanding on Cooperation in Cyber Security between India and Israel.

Prime Minister Netanyahu told in a security conference, “Our way of life is being challenged most notably, the quest for modernity, the quest for innovation (are) being challenged by radical Islam and its terrorist offshoots from a variety of corners.” He said that “Both Israel and India have long sought to counter militant Islamists - in Israel’s case, mainly from Gaza and Egypt’s Sinai region and, in India’s case, mainly from Pakistan. He also stated that “We’ve discussed in this visit how we can strengthen our two nations in the civilian areas, in security areas, in every area”. This reflects the concern on terrorism of the Prime Minister who is the equal victims of terror like India.

India-Israel Industrial R&D and Technological Innovation Fund:

The bilateral partnership is established on three ways, which is highlighted by Prime Minister Modi.

1. First, it can be done by strengthening the existing pillars of cooperation in agriculture, science and technology and security.

2. The second way of enhancing bilateral cooperation is by “venturing into less explored areas of cooperation, such as oil and gas, cyber security, films, and start-ups”.

3. The third way, Modi said, to boost ties would be by “facilitating the flow of people and ideas between our geographies”. Prime Minister said that “we are working with Israel to make it easier for our people to work and visit each other’s countries, including for longer work durations. To bring people closer on both sides, an Indian Cultural Center will soon be opened in Israel.” Both sides have decided to start a new exchange of bilateral visits by 100 young people from science-related educational institutions.

Why India Matters to Israel?

India is the largest importer of Israeli arms and other defense equipments. “Bilateral trade between India and Israel grew from $200 million in 1992 to $4.52 billion in 2014.” At present, Israel is India’s third most important defense equipment and arms supplier only after the US and Russia. India is a big market for exporting Agriculture Technologies, Water Management and Efficient methodologies. It needs strategic partnerships with strong democratic nations with global presence. Indian ISRO has gained a lot for respect with a strong of successful launches at an extremely low cost. This brings various Space Agencies including ISRO and SSLV collaborations and tie-ups. For now, Indian-Israeli lies matter to Tel Aviv and New Delhi equally.

Indian vote at the United Nations General Assembly for a resolution calling on the United States to withdraw its decision to recognize Jerusalem as Israel’s capital shows that New Delhi will continue to balance between different actors and interests and refuse any drastic realignment when it comes to its voting strategy in multilateral forums.

How is India going to benefit?

Until now, India-Israel relationship was premised only on defense and security cooperation, where the two countries had a strategic operation where the two countries had a strategic operation. But now both have moved beyond that. PM Modi said “we have cut down the red tape in Indian bureaucracy to allow Indian companies to come and invest in India’s defense and set up joint production facilities.” This statement is of immense significance, because Israel despite being a technological giant is a tiny country, whereas India is a huge market. These are favorable environment for setting up joint production facilities. The number of Israeli tourists coming to India has consistently increased. The Indian innovators have realized the importance of India. The Indian innovators have realized the importance of India.

Conclusion:

Beyond the narratives of ideological convergence, shared worldviews and common security interest of leaders, the India-Israel partnership has emerged and stabilized precisely for the past 25 years because of its uniquely depoliticized, decentralized and technical nature. Changing ground realities are forcing on the more growth-oriented countries to follow a policy of economic pragmatism. The major outcome of the India-Israel Joint statement is that the relationship the two nations is not limited to Defense and Security anymore.

Swachh Bharat Mission and Youth

Yugal Joshi

Prime Minister Narendra Modi's Swachh Bharat Mission has caught nation's imagination. Inspiring leadership at centre, states, districts and panchayats had made it possible to almost double the sanitation coverage today from what it was three years ago. Effective communication, planning and implementation, rigorous reviews, facilitation of proven behaviour change technologies as well as local innovations has made construction of more than 5.94 crore toilets and their usage possible. SBM looks all set to make India open defecation free by October 2, 2019.

Looked almost as an impossible task in 2014, when the mission was launched with a target of making India open defecation free by October 2019, and today more than 300 districts, 3,00,000 villages, 10 States and Union Territories have declared themselves open defecation free and the number of people defecating in open has reduced to about 25 crores.

This has been made possible by the hundreds of women champions and young sarpanches, swachhata volunteers, called swachhagrahis, Swachh Bharat Preraks and other thousands of inspired youths spread across hundreds of districts in India.

As it is said, "Swachh Bharat is the potential of Swachh Bharat". (A person with enthusiasm is a powerful person. Enthusiasm is as powerful as enthusiasm. Nothing is impossible to an enthusiastic person.)

To assist the district collectors and State Mission directors in monitoring sanitation activities and bringing focussed attention and enthusiasm to the programme at local level, a need was felt to have young educated graduates from premier engineering or management institutions or Universities who could devote their time and energy at district level. Ministry of Drinking Water and Sanitation, in collaboration with Tata Trusts, filled this void and now the Ministry has about 500 Swachh Bharat Preraks working closely with district administration to make the districts open defecation free.

If you ever visit to those villages where open defecation is still practiced, much before the dawn, you have a fair chance to meet young members of Nigrani Samities, educating and counselling the villagers going out in open to defecate in makeshift open toilets that have to be used. These volunteers are called swachhagrahis. These young men and women, committed to make their villages and panchayats open defecation free are the backbone of Swachh Bharat Mission. Presently numbering about 3.5 lakh, these youths convince the villagers to build a toilet near home, educate them on close relationship between health and hygiene, discuss the issues of women's security and sufferings vis-a-vis open defecation and assist them in building toilets. Swachhagrahis become the bridge between local administration and the villagers. Since most of them hail from local villages, they are trusted friends of the villagers in sanitation issues. The Ministry plans to have at least one swachhagrahi in every Indian village, thus building a dedicated force of more than 6.5 lakh sanitation volunteers to not only make villages ODF but also to sustain it and also for solid and liquid waste management.

Here, it will not be out of context to talk about participation of millions of youth in Ministry's awareness programmes like Swachh Sabki (collecting of garbage from public places), Gaadi Se Ghar Ki Dastak (Week leading to Independence Day that was focused on ODF), Swachh Sankalp se Swachh Siddhi (a fortnight dedicated to Swachh Bharat), Sankalp se Swachh Siddhi (a week-long programme) and Swachh Bharat Hi Seva and various other programmes. Swachh Bharat Mission is a shining example of the biggest behaviour change programme in the history of mankind. And participation of millions of youth in it has been remarkable. For example, more than 10 crore people participated in Swachhata Hi Seva programme and majority of them were youth. More than 7,400,000 NCC cadets and 1,57,000 para-military jawans directly participated in the programme. Overwhelming response from Ministry's awareness programmes covered more than 2.89 crore paintings, 2.8 crore essays and about 3 lakh short films.

All over India, lakhs of young sarpanches, volunteers, civil society organisations, sports icons, artists and film stars have been associated with Swachh Bharat Mission. Few years ago, who could have thought that a movie based on open defecation and need of a toilet would do business of more than Rs. 200 crores. But, it happened. Youth enthusiastically participate in day long swachhata programmes run by the TV channels. Swachh Bharat Mission has caught nation's imagination. Inspiring leadership Mission has caught nation's imagination.

management since this part of the brain is responsible for certain brain functions like impulse control, planning and attention acting as a filter by decreasing distracting stimuli from other rain regions. Any damage in the prefrontal cortex of an individual reduces the ability to filter out distracting stimuli resulting in increased procrastination hence poor time management.

Lack of confidence:

Sometimes it’s just our perception that we lack the skill so we stop believing in ourselves and our abilities and totally avoid completing a task in time. This leads to further procrastination and further waste of time.

Evaluation anxiety:

In order to impress others, sometimes the pressure in the mind is so much that it delays work.

Techniques of Managing Time effectively:

Time slot for leisure networking:

I’m highlighting this because in today’s scenario, most of our time (all age groups) goes off in looking at our phones for leisure networking. Only one hour everyday is more than sufficient for connecting with friends and relatives via mobile phone. Call this as “My hour” and it can be split into two parts of half hour each or three parts of 20 minutes each. The “My hour” must mean a total of 60 minutes in one full cycle of 24 hours and stick to it.

The Facebook and WhatsApp addicts have already stopped reading this article? :)

GTD: Getting things done:

Here the mind is freed from the job of remembering everything that needs to be done and the focus is on actually performing those tasks. Record the tasks externally in some note/diary etc and not in the mind and just get the things done rather than keep thinking and repeating what’s to be done.

The Pomodoro Technique:

This technique uses a timer to break down work into a 25 minute intervals called “pomodoros” separated by breaks. The frequent breaks can improve mental agility. This technique is followed in this order:

1. Decide on the task to be done
2. Set the pomodoro (timer) to 25 minutes
3. Work on the task until the timer rings
4. Take a short break (5 minutes)
5. Every four “pomodoros” take a longer break (15 to 20 minutes)

POSEC method:

Prioritize time and define life by goals.

Organize things to accomplish regularly.

Streamline things we do not like to do but have to do.

Economize things we should do or may even like to do but not pressingly urgent such as pastimes and socializing.

Contribute by paying attention to the few remaining things that make a difference such as social obligations.

ABC analysis:

Rank the tasks/activities according to the urgency and importance

A: tasks that are urgent and important
B: tasks that are important but not urgent
C: tasks that are neither urgent nor important.

Pareto Analysis:

This is based on the 80-20 rule. This principle is used to sort tasks into two parts. The idea is that 80% of tasks can be completed in 20% of time. The remaining 20% of tasks will take up 80% of the time. The tasks that fall into the first category should be given priority.

Time boxing:

Time boxing is fixing the time we have available to work on a given task and then doing the best we can within that time frame. So instead of working on something until it’s done in one sitting, we only work on it for around 30 minutes. It is either marked as done at the end of this period or we commit to another 30 minutes at a later time or another date.

Time boxing is the most effective tool against procrastination. It makes us focus on things that matter most. It also allows us to work on things during the free gaps we have between our commitments and appointments.

Conclusion:

Time is a precious jewel that needs to be spent judiciously and managing our time is equal to our physical, mental, spiritual, social and financial growth.

"75 Percent Women Beneficiaries Under Pradhan Mantri Mudra Yojana"

Union Minister for Textiles and Information & Broadcasting Smt. Smriti Irani has said that about 75 percent of the beneficiaries of the Pradhan Mantri Mudra Yojana (PMMY) are female. Speaking at the Raisina Dialogue in New Delhi, the Minister said under the PMMY, people could avail the existing one by taking a loan of Rs 50,000 to Rs 10 lakh. Smt Irani said, "75% per cent of the beneficiaries of the financial outreach programme (PMMY) of the prime minister are women. This means that in our country, we have women coming from small towns, walking up to bank managers, convincing them that their business plans make more sense than anybody else who walked into the same branch. "Women participating in such a large number and paying back to bank speaks volumes of the competence of the Indian women today," she said. The minister, however, said the fact that in unorganised sector, the number of women being much higher than the men also speaks of a "different story". The Minister also advocated for combined efforts of men and women to work for the empowerment of women, wondering why women only identify with their gender to be the problem-solvers.

The Minister also shared her experience before MP or minister when she had walked into her employers room and asked for a raise and got a reply that the men working with her "did not get anything". To a query whether the quotes apply for women, Smt. Irani said, "I have seen a lot of women who otherwise not have been given opportunity to prove their competence." Highlighting the works of the government, she said, The Centre has built about a record of 4 lakh toilets in one year in government schools which has enhanced the opportunity to prove their competence.
