COUNTRY'S YOUTH SHOULD BE JOB CREATORS AND INNOVATORS": PRIME MINISTER

The Prime Minister Narendra Modi’s Speech on the occasion of the Inaugural Ceremony of 22nd National Youth Festival - 2018 on January 12, 2018 (via Video Conference)

Friends, National Youth Festival is getting started today. I wish, I praise all the youths and institutions who have won National Youth Awards.

This is an excellent opportunity to deliberate and make pledges on the issues of a New India. This is the 22nd festival and I would expect that when you people discuss then this issue should also be discussed that when the 25th youth festival will be celebrated then what will be its outline. What kind of pledges will be made? Where will we reach by preparing a roadmap?

Friends, our country will complete 75 years of its independence in 2022. You would have read about the freedom struggle in books only, I myself have heard or read about the freedom struggle. There may be difference in our ages but in this regard I'm different from you people.

My plan of freedom struggle, we had not participated in the freedom struggle so it's our responsibility to realise those dreams that were dreamt of by those freedom fighters.

It is the responsibility of all of us to fulfil the dream of making that India of that brave freedom fighters used to dream when British police used to lash them and they used to suffer all kind of tortures in those dark jails. When we will imagine those dreams, those concepts then we will be able to make a pledge for making the India of their dreams.

You should reflect on what is happening around you that you wish to change. Brothers and sisters, Swami Vivekanand used to say that a youth is who works in the direction of his future goals.

I expect that the youth of my country should become job creator, he should come forward for innovation and that is why continuous work is being done in this direction.

Friends, our government has approved loans to 10 crore borrower under the Prime Minister Mudra Scheme. A figure of 10 crore is very high. These people have been provided loans worth Rs. 4 lakh crore without any bank guarantee. Just imagine, an amount of Rs. 4 lakh crore has been disbursed to these people without any bank guarantee, without asking how these loans will be repaid.

People have started their own small businesses in villages, in towns, in cities and in rural areas. They have been realising their dreams. These people, these small and medium entrepreneurs are now becoming the employment providers.

Brothers and sisters, there is only one basis for this massive scheme of the government - faith in you people. Trust on the youth of the country. We are confident that when the youth of this country determines something then he can do wonders. Youth who are full of energy are present in every corner of the country. Someone is producing electricity from the sun.

Employment Potential in Rural Tourism

G. Anjanye Swarny

The focus all these years revolved around existing tourism products, be it pilgrimage centre, enchanting beaches and other heritage sites leading to issues related to sustainability of tourism. Therefore, it is high time that the resources which are hitherto unexplored and unexploited are examined and brought into the tourism map of India. There is a social obligation also to make tourism an all inclusive platform for the overall development of the nation.

The present paper, therefore, addresses some of the issues related to making tourism an all inclusive concept through an entrepreneurial approach to the human resources development. More particularly, by bringing the innumerable natural resources of rural India through creation of right awareness among the rural folks about the potential of tourism industry and how tourism could contribute for the upliftment of rural India. The paper calls for a multi pronged approach, viz., identification of the region specific nature resources of rural India, creation of awareness and preparation of rural youth for an active involvement in tourism related activities.

Need for an Entrepreneurial Approach:

Entrepreneurialism as a concept and practice encompasses all human endeavours. It is region, sector and gender neutral. Yet, it is a fact that entrepreneurship is largely construed as an activity relevant to manufacturing sector, leaving aside several other human endeavors where entrepreneurship spirit is dominant. Human curiosity, imagination, spirit of enterprise, the urge to excel and the desire to achieve - all along have brought the mankind from the nomad status to what it is today where the human race is now set to conquer even other planets. Needless to say, it is entrepreneurship which drives people towards action leading to the overall development.

From the above description, it is evident that entrepreneurship is the key for economic development of any sector. Tourism is no exception! Nothing happens in the economic system unless someone takes the initiative and uses the resources judiciously. To quote Peter Drucker, "Every mineral is another rock and every plant is another weed until someone finds a use." In simple words, it is entrepreneurship that is responsible for shifting of resources from "low productivity" areas to "high productivity" areas.

As such, it is appropriate to capture the hitherto unexploited rural resources and develop them as innovative new tourism initiatives.
Government Launches Swachh Survekshan 2018

S hri Hardeep Puri, Minister of State(Independent Charge) for Housing & Urban Affairs informed the media on Tuesday that the 22nd National Youth Festival was organised on the occasion of the birth anniversary of Swami Vivekanand, the 125th of whom was celebrated on Saturday. The Prime Minister said that today's youth will have to make the maximum effort to achieve their dreams, as their role will be crucial in building a better future for the country.

Friends, today, I will also urge you to make sports part of your life. While wishing all of you once again on the occasion of the birth anniversary of Swami Vivekanand, the 125th of whom was celebrated on Saturday, I am giving you this information because this is for the first time that any government has shown the start-up India programme is for the first time that any government has shown the start-up India programme.

Brothers and sisters, it is not necessary that everyone who goes to the university will get a degree. I believe that those who are not interested in getting a degree will get it for themselves. You have seen that just two days ago, Anchal Thakur has won the first international medal for India so far in the sports of skiing. A few days ago, Manushi Chhillar had brought laurels for the country.

Friends, today, I will also urge you to make sports part of your life. While wishing all of you once again on the occasion of the birth anniversary of Swami Vivekanand, the 125th of whom was celebrated on Saturday, I am giving you this information because this is for the first time that any government has shown the start-up India programme is for the first time that any government has shown the start-up India programme.

Brothers and sisters, the start-up India programme is that all you have is all you need. You have the people, you have the skills, and you have the determination. If you have all these things, you will get success.

Friends, I have full confidence in the youth of the country. I have full faith in the power of youth, power, in the energy of young people of the country.

That is why we have focused our attention on that. Friends, some people say that today's youth is impatient. But I say that precisely this thing becomes the cause of innovation in the young generation.

Today, for our youth, impatient life is also not correct but this kind of patience is also not required that a person can't think about new things and the life becomes stagnant. There is a lack of patience that is why today's youth has been working at a fast pace, they are innovating and also producing results. Your innovations are related to social concerns because it is not Clean India Mission or Beti Bachao-Beti Padhao project or be it Waste to Wealth. Nobody can have a better understanding than you people about the challenges and problems surrounding you. The government has started Atal Innovation Mission while keeping this capacity of you in mind.

Atal Incubation Centres have been set up to encourage the innovation-entrepreneurship in sectors like manufacturing, transport, energy, agriculture, water and sanitation. These centres will provide financial assistance to start-ups and will also guide them in the right direction.

Brothers and sisters, the start-up India programme is becoming the basis of start-up revolution in the country. The government has set up a start-up fund with an amount of Rs. 10,000 crore. Credit guarantee and tax exemptions are being given to the new start-ups. Government is providing legal assistance to them so that they can get their innovations patented. I am giving you this information because this information will help you to move ahead after you graduate from your colleges.

MBA Admission for Session 2018-2019
Natural Resources of Rural India:

As the saying goes, India lives in the villages. However, in this day of pollution free weather, coupled with innocence of the people living close to the nature, the natural and social resources in the form of landscapes, artifacts and lifestyles constitute a huge treasure warranting to be explored by the urban elite in living a pristine life. Thus, the huge exodus of rural population to urban areas over the last few decades has left rural India land its own charm. More particularly, in a context where many urban kids assume rice, vegetables, etc., to be the only food items similar to soft drinks, ice creams and many other personal accoutrements.

Various agricultural practices season-wise, right from sowing to harvesting, millet of the cattle, food grain storage, farm equipment, lush green fields with natural flora and fauna, the rivulets and rivers, the villages, the landscape, rich folklore, social bonds and relationships, community, religious events, picturesque landscape, all these make our villages to attract people to experience the core values of rural India, a place that is humble, mundane. But the experience and novelty they offer to the discernable tourists makes the trip worthwhile.

Awareness Creation: Many of the practices, rituals and the elements of nature may be the integral part of villages. Tourism should promote rural tourism is in the hands of a blind man throwing the stone. The several distinct rural cultures and rituals may look very humdrum and mundane. But the experience and novelty they offer to the discernable tourists makes the trip worthwhile.

Identification of the service providers at the village level:

Selling the Unskilled:

In spite of the developments in technology, telecommunication and transport facilities, still a substantial portion of rural India retails the rural ambiance, exuberance and pride. By and large, the lifestyle of the people in rural India is far from hypocricy and down to earth in their disposition. Most of them are good at traditional crafts or trades. Some are known for their rich folklore, some are known for better farm practices, some are known for scenic beauty, some are known for traditional martial arts while some for floriculture and the other for fish ponds and prawn culture. Rural India thus offers mind blowing diversity. What is required is effective product design and communication. In the absence of systematic village level tourism, though all the people share in common many things, they significantly vary in terms of knowledge levels, backgrounds, cultural affiliation, religious faiths, understanding, interpersonal skills. Therefore, identification of the people with the right mindset is of utmost importance. Note that many schemes of the government are executed/ delivered through different village level bodies, existing local governance structure, etc., may be relied upon. Rural Tourism Promotion and development initially may piggy back on some existing village level bodies/tourist groups till it finds it own wherewithal. Individuals active in these bodies may be identified and imparted basic and higher skills with respect to importance of tourism promotion at the village level, the benefits that accrue to the villagers and the basic skills in handling the tourists.

Ecosystem for Rural Tourism:

The services required for the tourists visiting the villages are varied in nature ranging from arranging accommodation, food, transport, local travel, entertainments and engaging the guests. Opportunities may be created to experience the different facets of rural life. Some of the enterprising tourists may prefer to try their hands in many activities of their own fancy, words, tourists need to be taken onboard. This obviously requires smart individuals/volunteers from the local community. At the same time, the villages are a storehouse of the people with distinctive skills that can connect with the tourists and bridge their perspective of the world around them. The eco-system created ensures cross fertilization of ideas and frustrate not feeling universal brotherhood.

Conclusion:

Tourism in rural India has immense potential for the prosperity of the rural areas. Gandhiji’s dream of ‘Gram Swaraj’ may be realized for the prosperity of the rural areas. Balanced regional development which is an avowed national objective can be achieved with minimum intervention in terms of imparting basic skills would create a win-win opportunity for the high pedestrian which in turn would reduce the gap between urban and rural India.
