India Glitters at Gold Coast

Vidhanush Kumar

"Sports are 90 percent mental, 10 percent physical," legendary baseball player Yogi Berra once quipped. Berra had hit the nail on its head and stoked fire to a raging debate: How much of sports is physical and how much of it is mental? Coaches, sport scientists and doctors are always attempting to reach a conclusion that as the game becomes tougher and reaches the highest competitive level, achieving success becomes a more mental than physical effort.

What makes Kistamdi Srikant a better badminton player than most others? Or what makes Saina Nehwal a better athlete than most others? At times of talent, one needs to look at the inner man. USain Bolt is so different from others. It is the mental capacity to work longer, never lose hope, play intelligently use the skills etc. that separates him from the also-rans. Sports is about breaking barriers, more mental than physical.

It was one cold afternoon in Manchester when the Indian women hockey team broke a barrier. Facing England in the final of the Manchester Commonwealth Games in 2002, Indian girls beat England for the first time in many decades to win the gold medal. A barrier was breached. Manchester turned out to be India's best ever performance at CWG with 30 gold medals. The success also reflected, albeit on a smaller scale, at the corresponding Asian Games and the Olympics Manchester brought belief that Indians could win at multi-sports events.

The 2018 Commonwealth Games at Gold Coast has also broken another barrier. In terms of medals it may not be the best, but it is India's best performance at Commonwealth Games.. Gold Coast painted in tricolour First, let us have a look at India's better performances at CWG & Manchester (2002) was a watershed event for India as the country got 59 medals in total with 30 gold medals, 27 silver medals and 17 bronze medals.

The highest medals tally was achieved in 2010 when India hosted the Games at Delhi. The Indian contingent won 38 gold medals, 27 silver medals and 36 bronze medals taking the tally to 101 medals. Compared to that in Gold Coast, Indian athletes won 66 medals with 26 Gold medals and 20 each silver and bronze medals.

One may argue that statistically this isn't the best than why this claim?

Mark Twain once quipped, "Most people use statistics like a drunk man uses a lamp post, more for support than illumination." Yes, numbers don't lie, but to get the real picture one has to go beyond mere figures.

India's story at Gold Coast was dished in heavy metal. Why this performance matters more than any other good show is because of the number of disciplines in which India won medals.

In Manchester, India got 30 gold medals and only 5 discipline in this department. Aghlifting, wrestling, boxing and hockey. In contrast, India won in seven disciplines at Gold Coast: shooting, water-skiing, wrestling, boxing, table tennis, badminton and athletics.

Also some of the events in which India won medals in Manchester have been discontinued in world games now. For example, medals in pair events in shooting and weightlifting in Manchester, such events are discontinued ever since.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES IN COMMERCE STREAM

Vijay Prakash Srivastava

Management courses run by good institutions are in great demand today. As a discipline of study, management courses come to our country a bit late and mostly we copied it from western countries in the beginning. However, many of the Management topics were covered under study of Commerce in our country.

Commerce has been a popular stream of education in the country and in many ways is the first among professional courses available. As the economy is growing and volume of businesses keeps multiplying, study of commerce has become more promising. Even when a degree in engineering or technology is a most sought after qualification these days, there is no decrease in the popularity of commerce.

One major advantage with commerce is that one doesn't have to spend a lot of money for studying this subject whereas courses in engineering, medicine, architecture etc. require huge financial cost, more so at private institutions.

However as in case of any other subject, you should choose commerce only if you find the subject interesting and have an aptitude for it.

Commerce can be chosen as stream of study at 10+2 level. If you have been a student of science, you may take admission to a B.Com course after completing 12th standard. Admission to a commerce course is mostly merit based. Your score in the previous examination will be taken into account to determine your entry to the course. You are not required to go through tests like JEE or NEET needed for entry to many engineering, medical and few other professional courses.

Commerce is mainly concerned with trade and business activities such as sale of goods and services to producer to retailer and the end user. As a commerce student, you will be studying accounting principles, economics, business/investment strategies and topics like these. The subject will enable you to prepare balance sheet, trading account, profit and loss statements and various other statements depicting the financial health of a business. You will also learn use of computers in business accounting.

To gain entry to a commerce based career you should have at least a graduate or degree in the subject usually known as B.Com. It takes three years to complete this degree. After becoming a commerce graduate, you have a number of options. The way to further graduation in Commerce (M.Com) which will take another two years. Even if you decide not to pursue M.Com, you have a number of options for further studies as explained below:

Management: Those who are keen to grow into a business management professional, a...

Post graduate degree/diploma in Management makes a logical choice. In many respects students of commerce will find the course familiar and easy to understand. The course you choose should be full time with duration of two years and recognized by All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE). You will be required to choose a specialization in the course. Though most commerce students go for specialization in finance, considering one's liking one may choose from other options like marketing, operations, HR, information technology etc. New specializations like data analytics is also available at few institutes.

Law: To pursue a bachelor's degree in law (LL.B.) you should already be graduate. Your B.Com qualification can be a gateway for a degree in law leading to a legal career. You may choose from 3 year graduate degree programme conducted at Colleges, Universities and Law Schools/Universities. You may start working/pursuing legal practice immediately after qualifying the entrance test. While commerce graduates are not eligible to apply for the Chartered Accountancy:  This is a professional course conducted and regulated by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI) and is designated as Chartered Accountants of India. The course is conducted in three parts - Foundation Programme, Executive Programme and Professional Programme. The Company Secretary:  This is a related course conducted by the Institute of Company Secretaries of India (ICSI) which was previously known as Institute of Cost and Works Accountants of India. It is conducted in three parts - Foundation Programme, Executive Programme and Professional Programme. The Common Proficiency Test, an annual test conducted by ICAI, is mandatory for all those who want to be a chartered accountant. Cost Accountancy:  This is a professional course conducted and regulated by the Institute of Cost and Works Accountants of India which is currently regulated by the Institute of Cost Accountancy and is designated as Cost Accountants of India. It is conducted in three parts - Foundation Programme, Executive Programme and Professional Programme. The CFA Program:  This is an international qualification offered by the Chartered Financial Analysts Institute based in the United States of America and is made available in countries all over the world including India. The program is conducted in three parts - Part I (Ethics and Professional Standards; Financial Analysis and Portfolio Management); Part II (Ethical and Professional Standards; Portfolio Management) and Part III (Ethics and Professional Standards; Portfolio Management). Banking: Two streams exist in banking. One is corporate banking and the other is retail banking. One may work as an independent banker, or in a bank as a customer care representative. Financial services, law, research and analytics is also available at few institutes.

Prime Minister of Nepal Shri KP Oli recently visited India from April 6-9, 2018. According to the Nepali members of the Eminent Persons Group on Nepal India relations, this visit has helped resolve longstanding bilateral issues. As per PM Oli, the intention of his visit was to take relations between India and Nepal to a higher level, which are ‘commensurate with the realities of the 21st Century.’

The present leadership took the positive step of not trying to negate India’s role in the development process of Nepal, and took the step of choosing India as its first foreign destination after becoming Prime Minister.

Prime Minister Oli had extensive and positive talks with the Indian business community during the visit, both from the private as well as public sector. He sought major investments in harnessing Nepal’s vast hydropower potential. He stressed that both India and Nepal had many things to offer each other, and the principles of interdependence should be based on equality and justice. He inaugurated the Integrated Check Post at Birgunj which is a very important aspect of connectivity and the other was the groundbreaking ceremony for the Mohithari-Amlekhgunj border petroleum products pipeline along with Prime Minister Modi.

It was reiterated strongly that India Nepal relations will grow on the basis of equality, mutual trust, respect and benefit. The mottos ‘Sabka Saath Sabka Vikas’ (Together with all, development for all) and ‘Samriddha Nepal Sukhi Nepal’ (Prosperous Nepal, Happy Nepal) got reflected even in the 12 point Joint Statement that was issued during the visit, reiterating the nature of discussion that took place in between the two leaderships.

Three agreements were signed during the visit: ‘India-Nepal: New Partnership in Agriculture’, ‘Expanding Rail Linkages: Connecting Raxaul in India to Kathmandu in Nepal’ (which would connect Raxaul and Kathmandu with a new electrified rail line, with India’s financial support), ‘New Connectivity between India and Nepal through Inland Waterways’. In these three agreements, the stress was on the completion of the ongoing projects between India and Nepal. The leadership of both the countries while appreciating the progress that has been made in these projects also stressed on their speedy completion.

Through the agreement of inland waterways, Nepal will get an extra connectivity to the sea, making landlocked Nepal ‘water-linked’ as well. In the agreement for strengthening partnership in agriculture, stress has been given on organic farming, animal husbandry, soil testing, agricultural research and agricultural education.

On the agreement regarding construction of rail lines, it was decided that a preparatory feasibility study would be carried out within one year, after which funding modalities would be set up on the basis of the detailed project. These agreements laid the ground to find ways in making these visions possible in reality. Oli informed the Nepal press that he has also conveyed to PM Modi about Nepal’s desire to see an early realisation of the open market provision of the bilateral power trade agreement, which was concluded between the two sides in 2014.

Construction of railway lines from Jeyanagar to Janakpur and from Jogbani to Biratnagar are already underway and there are three more proposed rail routes to be laid, namely New Jalpaiguri-Kakarbhitta, Nautanwa-Bhairahawa and Nepalgunj Road-Nepalgunj.

Prime Minister Modi congratulated PM Oli on his electoral victory and hailed the people of Nepal for reposing their faith in the democratic process at the provincial and central levels. PM Oli also invited PM Modi to visit Nepal at the earliest.

The visit turned out to be significant. Both the leaderships stressed on building on their civilizational and religious linkages when they vowed to develop their Ramayana and Buddhist circuits. They also stressed on increasing cooperation in the areas of connectivity and capacity building.

Discussions were also held on matters of energy banking and new transmission lines. In a press statement after returning to Nepal, PM Oli stated that he had raised Nepal’s rising concerns about the alarming scale of trade deficit and stressed the need for implementing measures to expand Nepal’s export.

Through this visit, India and Nepal tried exploring ways to boost economic and investment partnership, including in the areas of connectivity and capacity building. The visiting leadership stressed on trust building and respect for sovereign decisions taken by Nepal to work with all its neighbours.

It needs to be kept in mind that Nepal continues to go through political evolution. The India factor will remain to be one of the main issues in Nepal’s domestic as well as foreign policy matters.
